Business Voice Political Committee Announces Endorsements In Three County Commission Races

Melbourne, FL: After extensive research and interview process, Business Voice Political Committee Board of Directors voted this month to support Rita Pritchett, Andrea Young and Kristine Isnardi in their bids to serve on the Brevard County Commission for Districts 1, 3 and 5, respectively.

“Our organization is committed to supporting the most qualified candidates who will best serve the interests of the Space Coast region,” states the organization’s Chairman, Larry McIntyre. “All three of these dynamic women have served as city councilwomen and are well versed in the needs facing our community. We believe they will be effective Commissioners, able to offer pragmatic solutions and make tough decisions.”

Rita Pritchett has served on Titusville City Council since 2010, Andrea Young has served on West Melbourne City Council since 2014, and Kristine Isnardi served on Palm Bay City Council from 2007-2014.

As a CPA, Pritchett has helped The City of Titusville weather the economic slump and recovery since the end of the shuttle program. “The City of Titusville has been very lucky to have Rita working with city staff these last few years,” says Business Voice County Commission Committee Chairman Todd Pokrywa, of The Viera Company. Of Young, he notes that “Andrea understands the contributions of the business community to the health and well being of our local economy.”

He also notes that Isnardi played a key role in improving development of Palm Bay. “Kristine fought to make the needs of small businesses a priority in Palm Bay. We also appreciate her efforts to improve the transparency of city government and know that sort of common-sense leadership will do a great deal of good for our county government.”

All three candidates understand the importance of the local tourism industry, and that protecting the Indian River Lagoon is a priority for business as much as it is for local residents. The business community also appreciates their commitment to cut burdensome regulations to ensure that government services are more efficient and customer focused.

“Rita, Andrea and Kristine are exceptional candidates who have served the communities they represent well,” notes McIntyre. “These endorsements send a strong signal that they deserve the support of the entire business community as they seek to now serve our community at the county level.”
