

John Olivadoti Jr.

649 N Range Rd
Cocoa, Florida, 32926
(321) 522-1142
John.Olivadoti@gmail.com

Summary

Having many years' experience in the retail and restaurant management, I have developed skills needed to be successful in leadership, sales, customer service, and managing profit and loss.

Education

T.R. Proctor
High School Diploma
Graduated
June 2000

Eastern Florida State College
Business Administration
Deferred
February 2014

While attending there was a family incident causing me to return to the workforce full-time with 5 remaining courses needed for completion putting my further education on temporary hold. There are plans to integrate the remaining courses into my schedule to obtain completion of my degree.

Employment History

Dollar General
Retail Store Manager
February 2014 - Present

After being hired as a part-time cashier, through hard work and a constant drive to succeed I was promoted to Store Manager. Through the training process, I absorbed and executed the knowledge and skills needed to become an effective leader and a successful member of the management team. Training, developing and leading staff have been key aspects in maintaining a high level of success and profitability. Meticulous control of payroll through appropriate scheduling and communicating with vendors to keep up with sales trends have aided in performing at the top of my district.

Rush Auto Repair
Shop/ Office Manager
June 2012 - December 2012

Assisting in the process of opening a small business provided me with an opportunity to witness all aspects of starting a company. This process included zoning changes, the permitting process, and local inspections. Office duties included, but not limited to ordering parts, preparing invoices, and customer service. Working under a master mechanic shop duties included, but not limited to safely and efficiently repairing vehicles to ASE standards.

Pilot Travel Center

Restaurant Assistant Manager

June 2008 - June 2012

Pilot Travel Center contains a restaurant and retail store operating 24 hours a day. This provided an opportunity to be involved in all aspects of restaurant and retail management needed for growth. Accurate inventory management and ordering were factors in providing customers with a constant supply of fresh products while minimizing waste and maintaining a high level of profitability.